

Resinol

First aid for cuts
burns and bruises

Every household should have a jar of Resinol Ointment on hand for emergencies like these. A touch of Resinol usually relieves the smarting and burning immediately. Its gentle, harmless ingredients, and its success in healing eczema and similar troubles, have also made it a standard treatment prescribed for years by physicians for skin and scalp troubles. At all druggists.

GRANITEVILLE

Lieut. Murdock Campbell Writes of Life with Army of Occupation.

First Lieut. Murdock Campbell of Graniteville writes home from Belgium and from Luxembourg as follows:

Virtu, Belgium, Nov. 18, 1918.—Am feeling very good. We are now on the march, which will carry us through Belgium, Luxembourg and into Germany. We will rest in this city two days.

The people through this country have been under the boot for four and one-half years and are happy to gain their freedom. Was surprised to find such a nice city. We have fine billets and it seems nice after some of the places we have had to sleep in.

Have just visited a German hospital, filled with all nationalities. They left them behind. Found a Scotchman, an Englishman and 14 Americans there. Gave them cigarettes. They were glad to see us. One American had two legs gone, another lost one.

Food conditions among the Germans were poor, indeed. Everything is high. The war stopped just in time to save me. Had an interesting trip to the front and it was hard to find my company. It is a long hike, but am glad that I am making the trip. All men and officers in the company are strangers to me, but am getting along fine. Just think of what I landed in—the 9th U. S. infantry regulars. That is one of the oldest regiments and it has been in many a fight.

Luxembourg, Nov. 24.—Am writing you this letter from the border line of Luxembourg and Germany. The Germans are on the other side of the river. We can see them, but there is no trouble expected. Soon we will continue our march into Germany. It is surely a wonderful trip.

Luxembourg is a beautiful country and the people use us fine. There seems to be plenty to eat here and we have good billets. The weather has been great. We have been marching since the 17th and will no doubt eat our Thanksgiving dinner on the march. We have to learn German now. There is no more French spoken.

One of the most beautiful sights I ever saw was when we marched through the woods and looked down on the river, valley and boundary of Germany. The Germans that we have seen are glad that the war is over. It surely looks great to see Germans on guard on one side of the river and Americans on the other and not fighting. When I get located, will write you more in detail about our trip. This march will go down in history and I am glad to be in it.

Ballefont, Luxembourg, Nov. 27.—Tomorrow is Thanksgiving day and undoubtedly we will spend it here in this little burg on the borders of Germany. The world has much to be thankful for this year and the boys over here are certainly in that spirit. You have read the papers about our progress toward the Rhine. We are in the third U. S. army, called in the papers the army of occupation. Our division is the second and it has been very much service. The third army is commanded by General Dickman. He was our commander at Fort Ethan Allen.

We have been resting in this town for the last four days, waiting until the Germans pull out. At 12 noon yesterday the line of them left and they took their gear off the bridge. It was very interesting to see the Germans leave. Soon we will follow them on our march to the Rhine. It will take us fully two weeks to land in Coblenz, Germany. The people, although Germans, use us very well. Their language is rough and coarse, worse than Gaelic. We do not expect any trouble on the march, but are prepared to meet any emergency. Don't know how long our stay will be.

Can write most anything now. We were only 48 hours at Camp Merritt, N. J., a very short stay. We came over on the German boat Fatherland, now called Leviathan. We were eight days coming. For a day and a night at the start we had a couple of destroyers as convoys. The first day we had two air-planes and dirigibles. Then we had five days and nights alone. Saw no other ships and no submarines. Two days out from Brest, France, five destroyers met us and escorted us in. The weather was fine, last two days rather rough. Our boat was a fine one, the largest in the world and very fast. Wish you could see it. The only bad feature about the trip was the "flu." Will tell you more about that some time.

We stayed five days in Brest and then moved to Haute Marne, which is on the advance zone. There we trained for a couple of weeks, when our regiment was sent to Le Mans, France, and broken up for replacement troops. We were there five days for orders. On Nov. 14 I and seven others from our regiment got ours and started for the front. We stopped in ruins and saw some of the city. It is surely a beautiful city. At night there were no lights and it was hard to get around. In one park, called the Madeline park, were hundreds of cannon captured from the Germans. Will never forget some of the cathedrals I visited there. We got our tickets for St. Dizier. Then we rode a gravel train to Verdun. From there we took the narrow gauge railroad to the ration dump. Then trucks brought us to division headquarters. We became separated here. Only Howe, a boy from Bennington, Vt., and I were left. We had a hard time finding headquarters, because the drive was on and they were moving forward all the time. The ground everywhere was full of shell holes. All towns were in ruins and in fields and woods were all kinds of guns, ammunition, etc.

You have read about the Argonne forest. That was a mess. Dead horses and men. It looks hard to see dead on the field. Well, must cut this shorter. We were roaming along the front, hunting for our company, when the armistice was signed. The guns roared until 11 a. m. and many men passed beyond a few minutes before 11.

We found our company men tired after the battle—those that were left. If the war had lasted, I was in a position to get some hard fighting, as our division is a shock division and used on the front lines continuously. We were picked to go into the 17th. It was interesting traveling through France, across the lower part of Belgium and across Luxembourg.

You will read in the papers, perhaps, about the guard we placed on the boundary and bridge. This village is on the Sauer river. Our company put the guard on the bridge. In one of my other letters I described the view as we emerged from the woods and below was the village of Ballefont, the boundary river, and Germany on the other side. It was beautiful, very beautiful, and the Germans on the other side added to the sensation, the more so because while in view there was no shooting. They are glad it is over, although they believe the United States is surely to take the interests of the town. Here we are eating and resting, ready to take up the march. The men in my platoon are feeling fine and glad they are making the trip. We march 12 to 15 miles a day.

I have told you more in this letter than in any other. It will get to you about Christmas. I wish you all a very merry Christmas and happy New Year.

WATERBURY

Miss Greta F. Perkins and Harris H. Metcalf Married Christmas Day.

A very pretty wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Verne L. Perkins Christmas evening, when their oldest daughter, Greta Francis, was united in marriage to Harris Harland Metcalf, principal of the Stowe high school. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William L. Boicourt, the double ring service being used. The bride was given away by her father and was attended by her sister, Miss Norma Perkins, as maid of honor, and the Misses Barbara Brown and Eleanor Folsom, the latter a classmate of the bride, as bridesmaids. Miss Jane Boicourt was a charming flower girl and Miss Breta Atkins the sweet little ring-bearer. The groom was attended by Lieut. Homer E. Berry of Richmond. The parlors where the ceremony was performed were decorated in green and white, and the diningroom in pink and white. Those who assisted in the serving were Miss Bertha Joslin, Miss Lela Carroll, Miss Mildred Breene and Mrs. Glenn Atkins.

The bride was gown in white organdy, trimmed with seed pearl trimmings. The maid of honor wore pink satin in taffeta and carried pink roses, while the bridesmaids wore seafoam green taffeta and carried pink and white carnations. The wedding march was played by Mrs. W. L. Boicourt, who also accompanied Miss Mildred Breene, who sang "Harold's" "Because" and during the reception Cadmon's "At Dawning." There was a large number of pretty and useful gifts.

The bride was born in Warren, but moved here at an early age and was educated in the grades and the high school here and graduated in 1917 from the Castleton Normal school. She also studied music in the Wilder school of music and took a special course in domestic science at Simmons college. For the past year she has been teaching in the high school at Stowe. The groom is a native of Williston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley A. Metcalf of that place. He was educated in the Essex Junction high school and graduated from U. V. M. in 1917. Last year he was principal of the school at Highgate, going to Stowe this past fall. Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf will be at home in Stowe after Jan. 15.

Among those present from out of town were W. E. Metcalf of Williston, Miss Florence Metcalf of Malden, Mass., and Mrs. Arthur D. Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Adams and Miss Dorothy Adams of Stowe, E. B. Palmer of Bristol, Bert Metcalf of Stowe, Miss Eleanor Folsom of Ferrisburg, Lieut. Berry of Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. G. Irish of Williston and Miss Belle Clark of Williston.

Capt. G. H. Newton, M. D., who has been for 23 years in general practice in Cambridge, Vt., has come here to settle as a physician for general practice. Dr. Newton is a native of Lowell and graduated from the medical department of the U. V. M. in 1890. He practiced in Uxbridge and then settled in Cambridge. For a few months he has been in the service, having been stationed at Camp Sevier in South Carolina. Mrs. Newton is a sister of Mrs. C. D. Swasey. They have two daughters who are teaching in Cambridge and a son in college at U. V. M. The family will move to their present abode in the Minard home formerly occupied by Dr. S. L. Goodrich. The going of Capt. Goodrich and Lieut. Steele into the service has made the work of the physicians here particularly hard and all will welcome the locating of Dr. Newton here.

RANDOLPH

Dana Washburn of Rochester and Miss Louise Allen Married.

Dana Washburn of Rochester and Miss Louise Allen, adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Allen of this place, were married at the home of the latter on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. The ceremony was witnessed by relatives and friends and was performed by Rev. R. H. Moore, pastor of the Methodist church, the single ring service of that church being observed. The bride was gown in light blue silk and was unattended. A wedding lunch was served immediately following the ceremony, and the couple remained over till Wednesday, when they went to Rochester, where the groom is employed by the Eastern Talc company and where they will make their home. The bride has made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Allen since she was a very small child and is well known in town, and the best wishes for the happiness of the couple are extended by her many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Brown, who have been in Windsor since Tuesday with their daughter, Mrs. Warwick, returned home on Thursday. Miss Grace Wood, after a several days' stay in Lebanon, N. H., with her brother, John Wood, and his family, returned home on Thursday. Miss Bertha Mainey, who came from Boston last Saturday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Manney, left on Wednesday for Boston, to resume her work for the Frontier Press company.

The funeral of the late Charles Mann was held from his home on Thursday afternoon and interment was in the family lot. Mr. Mann was one of the oldest inhabitants here, and for years has been familiar with the interests of the town. Gilson's orchestra came from Bethel on Thursday afternoon to furnish music for the ball at the grange hall by the Rochester club. These parties have become very popular and are always largely attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johnson have come to pass the Christmas season with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Johnson.

NORTH MONTPELIER

First American Girl to Enter Germany Has Relatives Here.

Word has been received here that Miss Letitia A. Curtis of San Francisco was the first American woman Red Cross worker to enter Germany since the beginning of the war. She drove a motor truck filled with food for the allied prisoners at Baden. Her companion in the thrilling ride was Miss Cheta Geary of Denver. The girls preceded the armies of occupation by several days.

They drove their truck, with an American flag proudly floating from the top, right by the long columns of retiring German soldiers, and the Germans, with red flags stuck in the barrels of their rifles, cheered and cheered as the truck with the two plucky Americans sped by them.

The young women crossed the Rhine into Baden at Loerrach unmolested by the German troops. The Prussian officers treated them courteously and the German people watched them with interest. The food was for the hundreds of Italian, Russian, French and a few American prisoners, who hailed the arrival of their fair "feeders" with joy. The men tasted real home food for the first time in months.

Miss Curtis is a niece of Mrs. Dora Converse and of Joe Martin of North Montpelier and visited here about two years ago.

W. G. Nye was a business visitor in Montpelier last week at the Capital Savings bank, where he is a director.

Cattle Buying For Swift & Company

Swift & Company buys more than 9000 head of cattle on an average, every market day.

Each one of them is "sized up" by experts.

Both the packer's buyer and the commission salesman must judge what amount of meat each animal will yield, and how fine it will be, the grading of the hide, and the quantity and quality of the fat.

Both must know market conditions for live stock and meat throughout the country. The buyer must know where the different qualities, weights, and kinds of cattle can be best marketed as beef. If the buyer pays more than the animal is worth, the packer loses money on it. If he offers less, another packer, or a shipper or feeder, gets it away from him.

If the seller accepts too little, the live-stock raiser gets less than he is entitled to. If he holds out for more than it is worth, he fails to make a sale.

A variation of a few cents in the price per hundred pounds is a matter of vital importance to the packer, because it means the difference between profit and loss.

CORINTH

Nathan T. Butler, son of Mrs. Frank Thompson, died last week of influenza.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kidder of West Corinth start for Sea Breeze, Fla., this week to work in the hotel, where they have worked for the past seven years. They have charge of the bathrooms this year.

Mr. Taylor of South Corinth has sold his farm through the Johnson agency.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilson of Corinth are both ill with influenza. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Wilson.

Olive Hastings came home from Bradford last week on account of illness. She is improving.

Miss Mary Tuller of Orfordville, N. H., is spending her vacation with her parents and other relatives in town.

The West Corinth and Center schools joined with the Cookville school in the Christmas exercises last Friday evening at academy hall, which was crowded to listen to the very fine program, which was rendered in a very acceptable manner, reflecting much credit on the teachers who had trained them, as follows: Esther Mills of Orange at Cookville, Margaret Murray of Barre at the Center, Eda Perry of Plainfield at West Corinth. The teachers returned to their respective homes on Saturday for one week's vacation.

Mrs. Fellows Merrill returned home from Bradford on Saturday, after a week's stay with friends there.

Mrs. Theron Perry and two sons, Ray and Ralph, of Plainfield, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mills and son, Ivan, of Orange, attended the Christmas exercises at Cookville on Friday evening.

Minerva chapter, No. 68, O. E. S., held their meeting last Saturday evening, two candidates receiving the degrees and one received on demit.

A dance was held Wednesday in honor of the soldiers who have returned. A full house and good music by Eastman and Simpson, Waits River.

EAST CORINTH

Owing to there being a few cases of influenza, it was thought best not to have the Christmas tree at the hall as planned, and, instead, there were a good many family trees.

Rev. C. A. Lay preached at 1:30 last Sunday and gave a good Christmas sermon. Unless there should be new cases of influenza he will preach at the same hour next Sunday with Sunday school at 12:15.

Endolph Butler and Kenneth Butler and family were called here by the death of their brother, Nathan Butler, from influenza, at Canaan, Conn. His body was brought to Bradford for burial. Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. Frank Thompson, Nathan's mother.

George Zwicker has been very sick with influenza this week but it is thought that the crisis is passed. Mrs. Arthur Brown is caring for him. Katherine Zwicker has a rather mild case of it. J. W. Zwicker and G. E. Divoll are at home on account of the sickness in the family.

Lawrence Jackman, Harry Tuttle, Henry Metcalf, Liva Landry and Mrs. Limas are all reported well on the road to recovery.

Ellen Thompson is spending 10 days' vacation at home from her school in Montclair, N. J.

Miss Maude Whitcher, who has been nursing at W. T. Jackman's, returned home Wednesday.

Charles Frost is moving into the Way house this week, as he is to drive team for E. M. Bowen.
